

Report on course evaluations: Tourism Copenhagen, Fall 2021

The evaluation form was distributed to 53 students and had 33 7th semester respondents. Of the 33 students. In general, the students answered the questionnaire and a minority only filled in half the survey.

Market communication in Tourism

All except for five students agree that they know the learning objectives of the course; and the level was appropriate. Overall, the students agreed that the course gave a good learning outcome in proportion to the learning outcomes and agreed or completely agreed that the course material supported their learning process. The majority spent 4-6 hours on the course readings whereas nine students spent 9 hours or more.

In general, the students found the sessions very interesting, contemporary and created awareness of their skills and competences and enjoyed the activities.

Some discontent with the fact that they only have 8-weeks of teaching.

Tourism Destination Analysis

The students state they know the learning objectives of the course; and the majority considered the level was appropriate, however 10 students thought it was too high. Overall, the students agreed that the course gave a good learning outcome in proportion to the learning outcomes and agreed or completely agreed that the course material supported their learning process. The majority spent 7-9 hours on the course readings whereas six spent more than 10 hours and 8 spent less than 6 hours per week.

In general, the students found the sessions very interesting, contemporary, and created awareness of their skills and competences and enjoyed the activities. Overall, the students enjoyed the study trip to Stevns and it supported their learning and understanding of destination analysis.

Co-creating Tourism

12 students in the course. Most of the respondents agree to know the learning objectives of this course and considered the level appropriate and were positive about the extent of the course. The respondents agreed or completely agreed that the course gave me a good learning outcome in proportion to the learning objectives.

The general comments on this course: the students found the sessions very interesting, contemporary, and created awareness of their skills and competences and enjoyed the activities. they were positive about the teaching and activities given.

Sustainable Development in Tourism

All but 3 of the respondents stated that they knew the learning objectives. Again, they were satisfied overall with the content, and the students prepared for readings between 7-4 hours, and 2 did spend more than 10 hours whereas 3 spent less than 4 hours per week to prepare for class. All but 3 of the students agreed that the extent and level were appropriate.

In general, the students found the sessions very interesting, contemporary and created awareness of their skills and competences and enjoyed the variety of activities and working with case studies.

The comments are in general positive and indicate that the material covered in the course is relevant.

Problem based Methodology and Project Writing

22 respondents in this part of the survey. In general, the students said they knew the learning objectives for the course and that the level was appropriate. The majority spent 7-9 hours on readings, whereas five students spent more than 10 hours and 8 students less than 6 hours. The majority agreed or completely agreed that the course gave them a good learning outcome. The comments indicate that some students found this course difficult probably due to the students' variation in disciplinary backgrounds. They did consider it to be too theoretical with little practical insights.

General comments:

Overall the students would prefer more lectures, 8 weeks courses are too tight a program for the expectations set in the curriculum.